January 2014, M ates Here is the first program in Hibernate like saving an object into the database. Don't think we are inserting a record into the database. That is the case in JDBC. In Hibernate, we are just saving an object into the database, means inserting only. Hope you got my contention as of now, am giving this as normal console-based Java application actually. It's bit tedious to set the class. I am doing some logic for the last word that is on the sentence. Words are separated by either space or with a character. What is the easiest way to get it? Edit, I could do it by traversing backwards from the end of the sentence, but I would like to find better way.
